Selections on Karl Marx – Peter Schendralis Explained on Marx

By Peter Schendralis (Karl Marx, 1800s and early poetic period)

I. I mean this by my class

I argue some people want to change the world. We are activists. Now try getting that fundamental to people in companies and finance and even in vertical leadership like Fidel there.

Try getting a bottom up speech going. Something like a activist speaking to a crowd in a agitation and just speak in that organic intellectual manner all day.

II. Do not talk about capital and be a strong intellectual perhaps

You can be a strong intellectual talking about capital.

But be a weak intellectual talking about changing the world instead. Express change.

I meant that is Marx’s Theses on Feurbach. And that is how to live in Marxism.
